A Remarkable Film

“ Rear Window ” is a film of exceptional quality. The film stars James Stewart and it is not simply about a crime or detective story. Stewart is a handicapped, he can't walk, so he moves on his wheelchair. He works as a photojournalist and lives in a village in Greenwich. His apartment overlooks a courtyard where he saw something too serious. On one of those long winter nights he witnessed a murder in the courtyard. Being disabled he couldn't help the victim, but he phoned the police who arrived too late. The star begins to blame himself because he couldn't do much to save the murdered. So, a fixed idea starts to occupy his mind that he himself has taken part in the murder. Actually, he's done nothing, but even the viewer develops the same feeling like the star's. And here comes much of the film's power; we feel Stewart's sympathy to the murder. There is also the delightful character of Thelma Ritter. She is an insurance company nurse who takes care of Stewart and even makes him sandwiches. She is very kind and humane at a time when modern health care has got too bad. The intelligent and splendid performance of both stars makes the film quite fascinating. There is also the exceptional manner in which the music and sound effects are mixed. But most important, it is the director's witty and clever handling of the story, in addition to the brilliant and beautiful camerawork.

III. Summary Making (20 Marks)

Read the following passage and then answer the question below:

" eBay " is The World's Online Marketplace. It's a place to buy and sell almost anything. With over 18 million members, eBay is more popular than any other shopping site on the Internet. People trade millions of different things on eBay's web site: from cars to electronics to musical instruments. Here's how it works: A member puts an advertisement for an item on the web site. Other members bid, or offer money, for the item. The person who bids the most money gets to buy the item. Then the seller sends the item to the buyer.

"Selling on eBay is easy," says Mike Stacks, the owner of a company that sells used computers. And he adds, "I make friends on eBay. I think it's a very friendly place." But some people don't like it. "I think the traditional way to shop is better," says Jenny Feng, a student. "I want to touch things – not see a picture of them."

But whether you like it or not, eBay is here to stay. There are now eBay users in the US, Europe, Latin America, and many other countries. Soon, people may be able to shop on eBay anywhere in the world.
